Values Newsletter 5

Dear Parents/Carers,

Our value for the month of January is being caring.

Being caring is about displaying kindness and concern for others.

In-line with our work on Charlie Mackesy's, The Boy, The Mole, The Fox and The Horse, our value for this month provides the time to reflect on this essential value. To remember the importance of being caring and kind and celebrating the children's great work in this area. Like the boy in the story, we all want to grow up kind and caring.

The start of a new term is a perfect time to discuss the importance of caring for one another. For asking ourselves, how other people feel and to ensure that the actions we take are kind and show care for others. I am so proud to say that the children have come back settled, hardworking and already showing the kindness that makes Lambley such a welcoming and caring school.

We also need to remind the children that it is important to be kind to ourselves. As the Mole says, "Being kind to yourself is one of the greatest kindnesses." We regularly talk to the children about looking after themselves and speaking up when they need help, support or time to talk. If we want to show kindness to others, first we must show it to ourselves.

To support our work at school, it would be great if you could discuss it with your children at home. To carefully explain to them, not only the meaning of being caring, but how they can show this in school and at home every day.

Thank you for your continued support and help with our key school values.

The Lambley Team

We believe that safeguarding children is everyone's responsibility.

At Lambley we are committed to keeping our children safe from harm. Lee Christopher, Rebecca Shardlow and Jennifer Swinburne have responsibility for safeguarding & child protection. If we have any concerns reported to us we will always take action to protect a child and inform the relevant agencies.
