

LAMBLEY PRIMARY SCHOOL NEWSLETTER

28 NOVEMBER 2025

1. LATEST NEWS

This time of the year is a wonderful time in school! The days may be getting darker and the weather a little colder and wetter but we are wrapped up inside school working hard and preparing for the Christmas festivities. There is nothing quite like walking around school listening to our choir or hearing Willow, Elm and Birch preparing for this year's Nativity. It can't help but make you smile, put a spring in your step and make you look at the winter days with a little more positivity! I love Christmas anyway - but Christmas in a school is even more magical.

I also love this time of year because we also get to celebrate our wonderful school with new families and visitors. I have already shown over 40 prospective parents around for next September (with many more visits booked in!) The feedback we have received is amazing. I have had multiple parents return for second visits and others recommend us to their friends and family. All the visitors have been so impressed with our caring nature, our calm, nurturing environment and most importantly our caring and hardworking children! This is a real testament to the work we have all done as a community to make Lambley such a special place! I love showing people around our school and celebrating Lambley and it is also nice to receive such positive feedback!

It's not only in school where we get this wonderful feedback. Earlier this week, Pine Class went to Bestwood Environmental Education Centre for a school trip. The staff and children had a great time and learnt a lot (even if it was a little cold!) Mr Norris and Miss White were quick to find me when they got back to tell me that their trip leader was so impressed by Pine Class. In fact, he said Pine Class were one of the very best classes he has ever worked with in the 8 years he has done the job! Well done Pine Class - I am so very proud of you all!

5. A NOTE FROM MR CHRISTOPHER

I feel it is so invaluable to give the children a wealth of different experiences and opportunities; for them to learn something new from a range of different audiences. For them to look up and dream because of the interesting things the people around them can do and know.

With this in mind, it would be great if any parent would like to come in to school and talk to the children about their job; to share your passion and enthusiasm for your career with the children. They will learn so much and who knows, they may follow in your footsteps!

If you think this is something you would like to do, then please do email me!
